Sophie, we need your NHS Number

Our records show that you currently hold a maternity exemption certificate.

Your certificate number: 1234 567 890

By law we must tell you if we think the information we hold about you is wrong.

We've checked the details we hold for your maternity exemption certificate against the details your GP practice or pharmacy holds for you. We have been unable to match your details.

You are at risk of receiving a penalty charge

This means if you continue using your certificate without updating your details, you may be at risk of receiving a penalty charge.

The easiest thing for you to do is to tell us your NHS Number.

You can do this by:

Using our simple online form: go to www.nhs.uk/confirm-nhs-number

Phone: 0191 232 5371 calls will be charged at a local rate. Open Monday to Friday, 8am to 6pm, and Saturday from 9am to 3pm.

Post: fill in your details on page 2 and send this letter back to:

Why have I received this letter?

We are legally required to make sure the information we hold about you is correct.

The details we hold for you do not match the details your GP or pharmacy holds for you. If our automated checks find a mismatch in your information, you may be at risk of getting a penalty charge.

What is an NHS Number?

An NHS Number is a 10-digit number. It helps healthcare staff and service providers identify you correctly and match your details to your health records.

You can find your NHS Number on any letter sent to you by the NHS or on your prescription. You can also call your GP surgery and ask them what your NHS Number is.

Why do you want my NHS Number?

Your NHS Number is unique to you. It is the most accurate way for us to confirm your identity. Telling us your NHS Number also helps to keep NHS records up to date.
